(b) Précis of storage in the Approved Code of Practice to MSER 2005

(for the complete storage information see paragraphs 411-420 of the Approved Code of Practice)

- Powder must be in containers with no more than 550 grams per container.
- The containers must not be metal. Plastic/polythene or paper/cloth are suitable. Care is required to ensure where plastic is used that it does not induce static electricity.
- The containers must be kept in a box constructed of plywood with a minimum thickness of 18 mm, or a material of equal or greater fire and physical resistance to attack.
- The box must be constructed to provide 30% additional height between the top of the container and the inside of the lid.
- If the box is to hold more than one container of powder, the interior must be divided by 6mm wooden partitions securely fixed to the walls of the box.
- It is a good idea to fit an intumescent strip around the lid.
- The box must not be stored in any box, drawer, locker or cupboard made of metal.
- Locating the box for storage –
 - The box should not be stored on or under any means of access or escape
 - The box should not be kept in the same room as flammable liquids or in any areas where there is a risk of fire
- Security of the box –
 - The box must be kept in either a secured room or other suitably secured place
 - Where not kept under the above provisions the box should meet certain minimum requirements
 - Have securely fixed robust hinges
 - A secure hasp using a security grade padlock
 - Have suitable arrangements to frustrate attempts to remove the box (e.g securing by its handles or similarly attached ring to a strong point using good quality chain or fixing device
